BUCKS' JET AIR CENTER SEEN IN FUTURE

Ground-Breaking

LCA Reactivates Group To Study On Incorporation

To spearhead the drive to incorporate Levittown, the incorporation study committee of the Levittown Civic Association was re-activated at a meeting last night at Thomas Jefferson school. John Bowers, 49 Spindletree road, Snowball Gate section, was named chairman of the committee to investigate the incorporation issue.

The committee was instructed to compose and present petitions to the governing bodies of the municipalities comprising Levittown requesting a study on advantages and disadvantages of incorporation by a non-partisan organization, such as the Pennsylvania Economy League of the Institute of State and Local Governments. This study is to include the possibilities of incorporating just the Levittown sections or all the municipalities surrounding Levittown into a homogeneous area.

Worked In 1954

This committee had been active from June to September of 1954 circulating petitions to be presented to Bucks County Court. The petitions did not have enough signatures.

Hank Lotto, president of the LCA, noted that at a recent meeting of the Levittown Kiwanis Club, Dr. Harold B. Alderfer, an authority on local government structures, recommended incorporating the area into a first class township instead of a third class city as (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Good Evening!

Thrilling sea drama.

Ditching of that big Stratocruiser and rescue of all 31 aboard far out in the Pacific quite a yarn in anybody's language.

Something of a drama, too, this presidential election race but we've a hunch people are beginning to get a wee bit weary of it all.

What can Ike, Richard, Adlai and Estes say that they haven't been saying since early September? We'd be for doing the voting tomorrow.

Halloween two weeks from today. Judging from the fields and roadside stands all over the place there should be no shortage of pumpkins.

One thing we like about the treat or trick season is that Thanksgiving is never far away and then everybody starts looking for Santa Claus. You know, it really won't be long.

Coming back to today for a moment: How about your pledge to the United Community Fund? Have you made it? Have you made it enough?

Just keep remembering that if you don't care enough about your community or your county to share in its welfare you ought not be living in it at all. Need for Community Fund giving has never been so great.

Weather on the cool side.

Considering the perfect autumn to date we'll settle for anything Ma Nature has to offer from here out. She's been mighty kind.

Children would all be brought up perfectly if families would just swap kids. Everybody knows exactly what ought to be done with the neighbors.

One girl to another on cruise ship: "Everything's just as I imagined it would be: soft breezes, tropical moon, romantic music—and no men."

Watch your driving.

Israel Backs Ben-Gurion On Retaliation

Vote Of Confidence Passes Parliament By 76 To 13

JERUSALEM Israeli Sector — UP— The Israeli Knesset (Parliament) gave Premier David Ben-Gurion a 76-to-13 vote of confidence today on his policy of retaliation against Arab terrorism and his demand for Israeli right of passage in the Suez Canal.

Ben-Gurion told the lawmakers Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser was Israel's No. 1 enemy, but he said there had been "some improvement" in Israel's prospects for freedom of navigation in the Suez Canal.

Ben-Gurion said Israel still reserves "freedom of action" in case Iraqi troops enter Jordan but he told the Knesset there had been some improvement in this situation too — a reference to Iraq's decision to send its troops only to the Jordan border.

His speech coincided with statements in a Cairo newspaper by Maj. Gen. Hakim Amer, Egyptian defense minister and commander of Egypt's armed forces, that his men would "enter into battle immediately" if Israel attacked any Arab state.

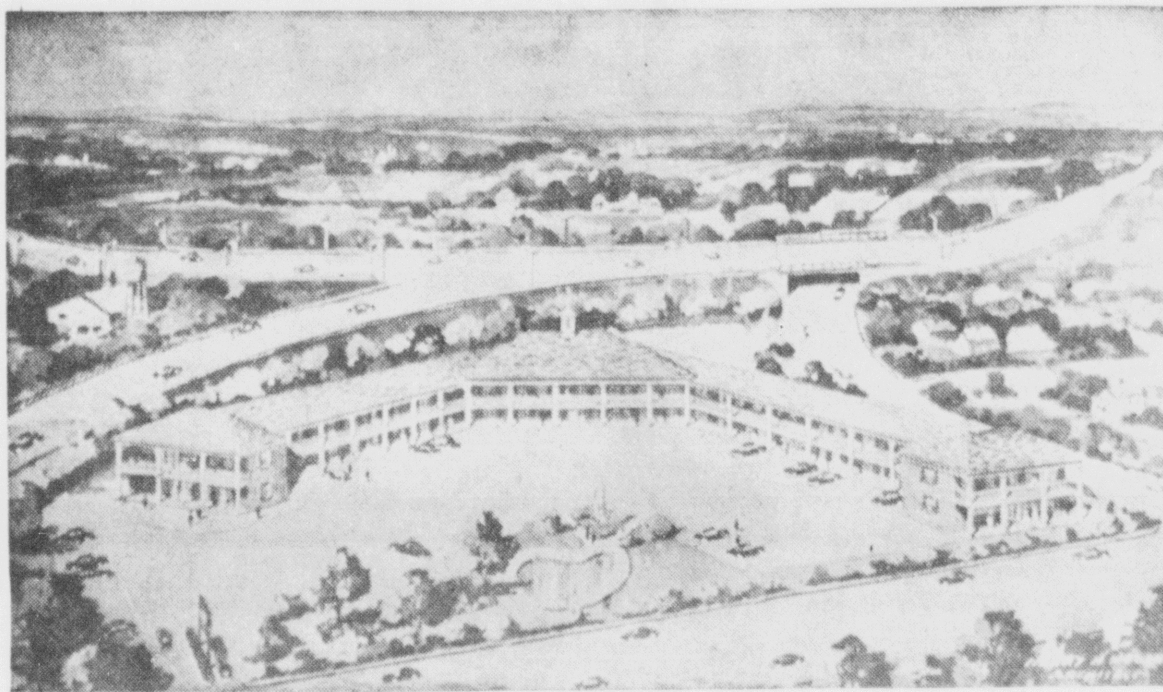

It was Amer's first statement on the tense Middle East situation since the recent large-scale Israeli raids on Jordan. It was believed intended to quiet Arab criticism that Egypt was too preoccupied with the Suez crisis to live up to its commitments to the Arab states.

Ben-Gurion's statement today ended three days of debate on Israel's security and foreign affairs policy. Opposition parties had wanted even tougher military action than mere retaliation but both sides agreed that full-scale war should be avoided.

While some deputies have voiced demands for more warlike moves against Arab acts of terrorism, all parties with the exception of the Communists supported Ben-Gurion's position on Iraqi troop movements into Jordan and on the Suez Canal.

The white-haired premier warned that Israel would consider war as a "last resort" if Iraq moved her troops into Jordan. He also reiterated the Israeli demands for an end to the Egyptian boycott of Israeli shipping through the canal.

Motel Planned For Green Lane

$500,000 Motel Approved For Bristol Township Site

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times Staff Writer

The Bristol Township Zoning Board of Adjustment last night cleared the way for a half-million dollar motel on Green lane at Route 13, near the Turnpike entrance.

The board unanimously approved a request by the Bristol Motel, Inc., for five variances of the zoning code to permit construction of the motel.

The approval came despite objections of a number of residents, who claimed the motel would increase hazardous traffic. The residents also stated the motel was not needed in this area and would not benefit the township.

In another action, the board unanimously rejected an appeal for a zoning variance by Samuel and Irving Levenson to permit construction of five stores on a narrow strip on Newportville road near Bristol-Oxford Valley road.

As planned, the stores would have a rear yard of only five yards. The zoning code requires a minimum of 20 yards.

In approving exceptions to the zoning code to permit the motel, William O'Neil, chairman of the three man board of adjustment, stated he felt the project "would be a credit to the township and provide needed tax revenue."

Stanley Slose, president of the motel corporation, said plans call for a two-story "L" shaped building with 85 rental units.

Construction Soon

The motel would represent "an investment of well over a half-million dollars" he said. Construction would start as soon as possible with completion set for late next Spring.

The plans needed approval of the board of adjustment since the ground is now zoned C-5, for a shopping center. A minimum of two acres is required for a shopping center, while the land in question is about 1.9 acres.

The zoning code also requires that any exit or entrance be at least 200 feet from the nearest intersection. Thomas A. Reap, attorney for the corporation, reported it would be impossible to do this since the ground had only a 300-foot frontage along Green (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Atomic Ban Support Fires Both Parties

Stand By Adlai Causes Mountainous Letter Response

By UNITED PRESS

Scientific and public response fanned the political fires of both parties today into major debate on Adlai E. Stevenson's pledge to strive for world agreement to end H-bomb tests.

Stevenson's promise to negotiate at any place and at any level if he is elected president brought his biggest fan mail of the campaign.

His proposal drew immediate rebuttal from Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and former GOP presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey.

The White House has indicated that burgeoning political pressure might cause President Eisenhower to break his announced campaign silence on this issue.

Mr. Eisenhower said in his news conference last week that he had said his "last word" on the Stevenson proposal.

The deluge of public and scientific response appeared to strengthen the Democratic presidential nominee in his determined bid to make his proposed H-bomb ban a key campaign issue.

To Hit Nuclear Issue

He indicated he will concentrate equally on the nuclear issue and the question of Nixon's possible succession to the presidency in his current swing through Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

Hundreds of telegrams, including numbers from scientists of international reputation, poured into his Chicago campaign headquarters and his home in Libertyville, Ill.

Eleven physicists at Columbia University in New York sent a telegram to President Eisenhower saying they saw merit in Stevenson's proposal to halt further tests of hydrogen weapons. Among those urging further discussions of the issue was Dr. Polykarp Kusch, co-winner of the Nobel Prize in physics last year for his work on atomic measurements.

"We strongly urge the administration to join in the clarification of public thinking on this crucial issue," the scientists said.

Five other physicists at the Argonne National Laboratories, Lemont, Ill., telegraphed Stevenson that nuclear physicists "firmly believe your plan far from being (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Cloudy and cooler and becoming windy today with rain beginning during the afternoon and highest 65 to 70. Rain tonight and tomorrow morning followed by clearing and mild in afternoon.

Where Else Could He Go?

A Trenton driver posed a difficult question to officer Richard Brantle of the Bensalem township police early this morning after his car ran off the road on Route 1.

"What could I do?" he wanted to know.

John G. Gindhart, 24, of 85 South Clinton street, said he was forced off the road by a passing car along the highway at 3:10 a.m.

"All he could do" was swerve from the road, hit a retaining curb, bounce off a sign, level four small evergreen trees and come to rest on the lawn of the Clover Motel along Route 1.

His car damage was estimated at $200 by police. Most of the damage was to the front end and to the under pinning which hopped along the trees.

"All police could do" was give Gindhart a summons for reckless driving.

Hunter Head Urges Zoning For Airport

10,000-Foot Runway Space For Transports Available In County

Either Bucks or Burlington counties can become the jet air terminal center for the Middle Atlantic area, members of the Delaware Valley Council were told yesterday.

Speaking at the eighth annual conference of the DVC on planning and economic development, Charles E. Hunter, president, Hunter Manufacturing Co., Bristol, said this section of Delaware Valley, U. S. A., now stands in an unequaled position.

Both New York and Philadelphia air terminals are restricted from expanding because of neighboring residences, Hunter pointed out, and as such will not be able to accommodate jet transports with their 10,000 foot runway requirements.

Hunter, who also serves as chairman of the Bucks County Development committee, called for immediate zoning so that sufficient land might remain available for a jet airport. The Bucks County industrialist envisioned the terminal as serving both New York and Philadelphia since passengers may get to midtown Manhattan in less than an hour from Trenton on the Pennsylvania railroad. The completion of the Delaware Expressway will permit quick access by auto to downtown Philadelphia and Camden, he said.

If the jet terminal is promptly and intelligently planned, it will also serve to attract a sizable segment of the aircraft manufacturing industry to the Delaware Valley, Hunter declared.

Needs Proper Control

However, he warned that the phenomenal growth of lower Bucks and the announced increase in Burlington housing might choke off this opportunity if allowed to proceed without proper control.

Tracing the expansion of Bucks County since 1930, Hunter disclosed there has been a 70 per cent (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Queen Starts 1st Atom Plant

CALDER HALL, England—UP—Queen Elizabeth II pulled a switch today that sent electricity coursing throughout Britain from the world's first full-sized atomic plant.

The ceremony unleashed a force of 132,000 volts into nationwide transmission lines from nuclear-powered generators that eventually will produce almost 100,000 kilowatts.

A few dozen tons of uranium per year began doing the work of 56 tons of coal, an hour at the pioneer Calder Hall electricity plant of the British Atomic Energy Authority.

Calder Hall supplies towns and cities from two atomic piles which act as "furnaces" to produce steam and drive four steam turbines of the same sort as any modern conventional power plant. Though atomic power has become a positive building force rather than a force of destruction, the sword lives next to the plowshare at Calder Hall.

Mill Street 275th Fair Opens; Contest Winners Announced

The 130 paintings that local artists entered in Bristol's first art contest, 30 of them with prize ribbons and honorable mention tags, went on display in Mill street store windows today as the old-time street fair opened.

The skies were cloudy but the air was warm for a festive occasion when the gala fair opened on Mill street today.

Featured attractions for the giant stage on Mill street were the historic tableaux and dance from the school pageant of Bristol's 275-year history, a program that thrilled a capacity crowd in the Warren Snyder school auditorium Monday night.

A puppet show was scheduled for 4:30 p.m., with a repeat performance tomorrow at the same time.

Halloween Party

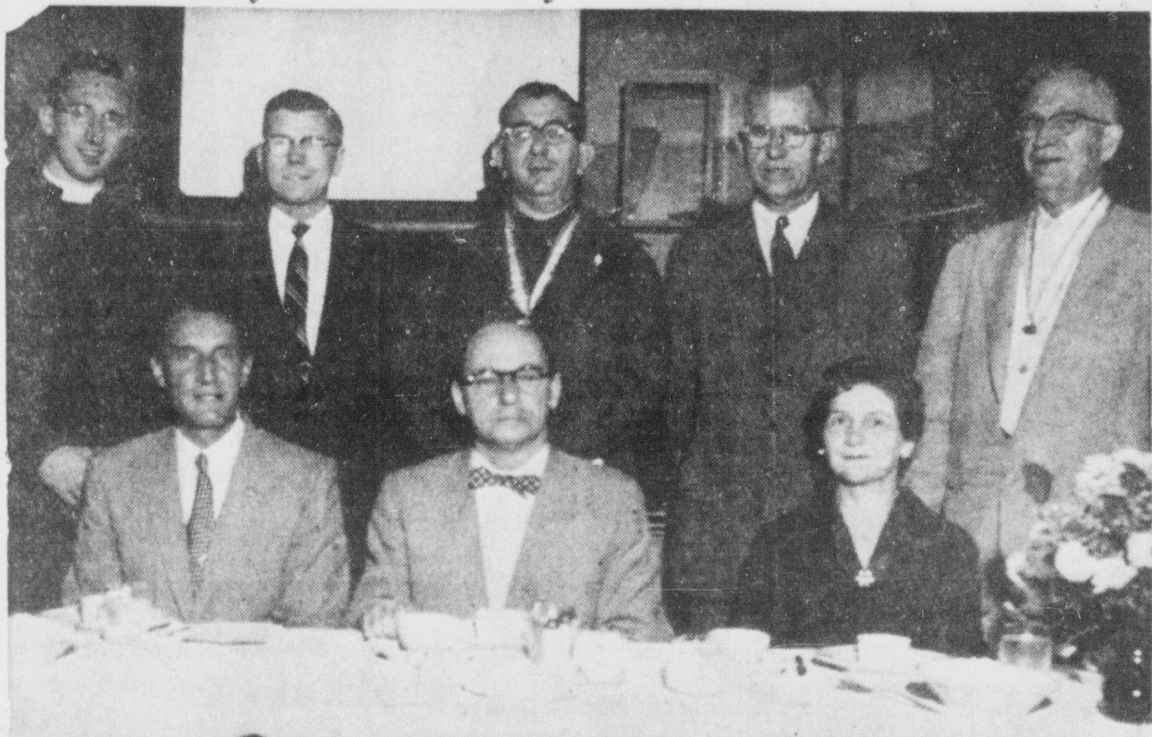

Children will come to Mill street in costume tonight at 6:30 o'clock, to a Halloween party sponsored by Bristol Consolidated and No. 2 fire companies. At 7:30 p.m. the judges will judge the best costumes.

Board OKs Grandview School Plans

Preliminary plans for the proposed Grandview Elementary School were approved last night at a meeting of the Morrisville School Board and the plans will be sent to Harrisburg for state approval.

Richard Micklewright, of the firm Micklewright and Mountford, Morrisville, presented the plans and an architects rendering of the proposed elementary school that will serve students in the western section of the Borough.

Six Classrooms

The new school will be located on Grandview avenue and will have six classrooms, offices, a health room, and storage space. Estimated building costs include: structure, $146,300; architect's fee, $9,200; and equipment, $6,000.

The tract of land cost $9,207. Total cost is $196,000. Estimated annual rental rate is $12,450.

The school will accommodate about 120 pupils. Manoah R. Reiter, Superintendent of Morrisville schools, said that construction would begin as soon as state approval is received and the bids are awarded. Construction will probably not begin until the first of the year, he said.

The Board voted to make a topographical and utility survey of the tract before construction begins.

In other action, the board seated Horace E. Hunt, 37, of 231 Washington street, Morrisville, to fill the unexpired term as board member of Dr. John R. Wittekind, who resigned because of business reasons.

Mr. Hunt, owner of the Hunt Printing Co., Morrisville, was sworn in by Secretary of the Board Frank C. Miller. Mr. Hunt's term expires in 1959.

'catastrophic nonsense' is workable, wise and in the best interests of the United States."

Nixon had used the phrase, "catastrophic nonsense," in condemning Stevenson's plan.

The President made passing reference to the proposal in a campaign talk at Minneapolis, Minn., Tuesday. He asked whether "these politicians" were blind to administration efforts to dedicate atomic power to peace.

Dulles told a news conference that "if there is an effective way to control and limit the use of these bombs then we will find it."

Levittown Girl Struck By Car

A four-year-old Levittown girl was bruised and shaken when she was struck by a car near her home yesterday afternoon. The child, Patricia McCallus, 4, of 142 Idlewild lane, Indian Creek, was treated at Lower Bucks County hospital for a contusion of the left side of the head and abrasions of the elbow. She was released after treatment and a short period of observation.

Bristol Township police identified the driver of the car as Harold F. Beerhalter, 33, of 26 Icedpond road, Indian Creek. Beerhalter told police he was driving west on Idlewild road when Patricia ran into the street from behind a parked truck.

Falls Democrats To Continue Drive

The "Dollars for Democrats" drive in Falls township will continue throughout the rest of this week because of the vast number of homes that have to be covered. This was announced by Norma Shaw and James Ansbro, co-chairmen for the drive.

Playwicki District Renames Chairman

Charles B. Smiley was reelected chairman of the Playwicki district, Bucks County Boy Scout Council, at the annual district dinner-meeting last night at Parkland fire hall.

H. Harper Stockham and Stevenson W. Fletcher, Jr., were named vice chairmen, and Sol A. Miller was re-elected district commissioner.

More than 150 Scouters and their wives attended the nicely arranged affair and enjoyed a program, highlighted by reports of the various district operating committees and a discussion of Scouting by George G. Gray, speaker of the evening.

Mr. Fletcher served as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Frank E. Ball gave the invocation and William C. Gotthardt, Sr., led the singing.

Committee reports were given by Samuel R. Russell, advance chairman; John H. Noble, camping and activities chairman; William R. Sweet, finance chairman; H. Harper Stockham, health and safety chairman, Robert Melling, training chairman; and Sol A. Miller, district commissioner.

One of the features of the program was the annual district award. A statuette was presented Frank Pennington, of Feasterville, by Samuel R. Russell in behalf of the district.

Following a brief discussion of council affairs by F. P. Kemmerer, council commissioner, and Dr. A. J. Strathie, chairman of the council camping and activities committee, District Scout Executive George S. Porter brought the affair to a close with his annual report.

The dinner was served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Parkland Fire company.

Bensalem Audit Hits At Mismanagement

The auditors of Bensalem township released an uncensored audit today and a detailed 16-page statement lashing out at the township supervisors for "gross mismanagement, inefficiency and irregularities in their records."

Most of the statement pertains to the period of the audit, which is 1955. George C. Lyons, James H. Hartley and Raymond Wink were the township supervisors. J. Alfred Rigby was secretary-treasurer during this period.

The final part of the statement deals with the present conditions of the township under the administration of Raymond Wink, Joseph Murdock and Raymond Brenner. Mr. Murdock serves as secretary-treasurer and Mr. Wink serves as roadmaster of the township.

The auditors declare that appointment to these lucrative positions, "for which they have neither the background nor the experience," is a waste of township funds.

Professional Men

The auditors advocate appointment of professionally trained men such as a township manager to fill these positions of responsible government. They feel the current system is "antique."

Calling the condition of Bensalem township as of the end of 1955, "deplorable," the auditors say that a certified report is impossible.

They are demanding an independent survey by a CPA firm as the only method of ever achieving a certified report.

The auditors, Chester Korona, Frank T. Buck and James Strange said that the audit is public record and can be viewed by any interested citizen in the township office.

The full text of their statement may also be studied by any civic group that cares to see it, they said.

The Morrisville Airport is owned by Julian Grancarz of Trenton and leased to the Aero Disting Corp. Hortman is president of the Aero Disting Corp. and he operates a government-approved flight school and air charter service.

The flight school has 60 flight training students, 14 airplanes of its own, and seven privately owned planes hangared at the field. Three pilots are on duty at the field at all times.

Mr. Hortman said the expansion plan is necessary because of rapid housing developments in the Morrisville area, around the field. The airport land may be sold for housing construction, he said.

Meeting Called to Explore Plans For Junior College

Emotional Voting Cited In Talks Held By Teachers

"People vote according to their emotions rather than according to ideas and issues" was the dominant theme of a Citizenship Education Conference among Lower Bucks teachers of history and government yesterday at Benjamin Franklin Junior High school.

The novel experiment called together teachers from nine area schools for a critical self-evaluation of their teaching methods in this election year.

Political Question

The teachers were posed with the question, "To What Extent Do Political Prejudices Influence Presentation of Contemporary Politics?"

The teachers agreed that, "We are partial because fundamentally we are part of the community. We are members of a home, a family, a church and a community."

"Partiality only becomes dangerous when it is disguised as truth."

The teachers agreed that a strong factor they have to present to their students is the awareness of propaganda and partial truths that are often dangerous in an election year.

Facts, Fancy

"Our job," the teachers said, "is to teach our students to distinguish facts from fancy. We have to provide them with the tools to evaluate information and prepare them to pass critical judgement."

It is essential, the teachers emphasized, that students are presented with these problems on their own level and not a more mature level that they can not cope with.

It was noted, however, that students show a great awareness to current problems, often far surpassing their parents in knowledge of present world situations.

Methods Used

A straw vote, a system of registration, a study of various ballot methods in different states and a study of political "battle pages" were some of the methods the teachers were using to create political awareness.

Principals of the participating schools will be presented with a plan to hold regular meetings of the group. Debating teams among the students will also be studied as another possibility to create interest.

Schools participating in this conference were Bensalem, Bristol, Central Bucks, Council Rock, Delhaas, Morrisville, Neshaminy, Pennsbury and William Tennent.

Storm Sweeping Into Pennsylvania

By UNITED PRESS

A destructive storm swept up the Atlantic Coast and into Eastern Pennsylvania today, bringing cloudy skies and rain.

The storm stopped short at the mountains, leaving that area and western portions of the state with clear skies which were expected for the next few days.

U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters said eastern counties could expect fairly steady rain through the night and into tomorrow morning.

L'town Players Excellent In 'Arsenic And Old Lace'

By BILL WINTERS

Courier and Times Staff Writer

The Levittown Players are ready to launch their fifth season tonight with their 15th major production, "Arsenic And Old Lace," to be presented in Walt Disney School's Little Theatre for the benefit of the Levittown Kiwanis Club's Child Welfare fund.

If last night's dress rehearsal is any indication of the calibre of performances to be expected, we are convinced that Levittown's little theatre group has come of age and should reach new heights this season.

Evidence of maturity was graphically demonstrated last night in the smooth presentation of this unusual murder farce under the skillful direction of Doug Bott, who won accolades for his direction of the Players production of "Guest In The House."

Two Oscar winners, Faith Murray and Agnes Sadow, carry lead roles of the Brewster sisters with assurance and should be "laying 'em in the aisles" as well as the cellar.

Other veteran Levittown players handling major roles with verve are Ben Podolsky, Marylou Laughlin, Joe Byers, and Frank Lombardi, last season's best actor winner.

Debuting in a difficult part is Jack McDonald who is superb as the deft Dr. Einstein. Excellent support is given by George Hopkins, Bob Buxton, George Ryan, George Bennett, Dr. Rigberg and Mr. Tafel. Mrs. Margaret Gontier and Benjamin Watson represented Bristol. From Central Bucks came Wendall Huntzinger and Paul Breme, John Basco and Leonard Dass came from Council Rock. Delhaas sent Phillip Donahue and Jack Rosser. James Wood came from Morrisville. Stanley Zerbe represented Neshaminy. Pennsbury sent Miss Mary Grimes and Adolph Koenig and James Mitchell. William Tennent's representatives were Mrs. Ella Rhoads and Miss Virginia Dare.

Also in attendance were Dr. Gloria Cammarota, assistant superintendent, Mrs. Joseph Jaffee, League of Women Voters; Dr. Morion Botel, assistant superintendent; Claude Lodge, administrative assistant; Stanley Dick, principal; and Robert Fraser, director of secondary schools.

Seeing Levittown

By JIM ORT

The sister of two Levittown women appeared in a dance recital at Carnegie Hall in New York City recently. Nancy Carol Blackburn, 19, of Craigtown, Md., is the sister of Mrs. Harold Shemeley, 82 Idlewild road, Indian Creek, and Mrs. William Warren, 25 Nutmeg lane, North Park. Nancy Carol was crowned "Miss Norfolk" in April of this year and since has appeared at Naval bases across the country. She was elected as "Miss Norfolk" in the ninth annual beauty competition at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk. For interested men, she carries a trim 35½-25-35½ figure on a five foot, six and one-half inch, 129-pound frame.

Boys will be boys. Harvey Seronovitz, 10, of 56 Vermilion way, fell out of a tree near his home yesterday about 6 p.m. He was taken to the Lower Bucks County hospital by his mother, where he was treated for an injury to his right hip.

There was quite a bit of excitement in the Blue Ridge section yesterday afternoon. It seems that a two foot long black snake slithered onto the lawn of Mrs. Corine Samontis, 15 Boston-Ivy road. The hero of the day was a milkman making his rounds, who disposed of the creature with the help of a hoe and several rocks.

period rose $3.8 billion, or one per cent, over the first quarter. If continued for a full year, this would amount to a record $338.7 billion, compared with $324 billion last year. The second quarter rate was up $16.8 billion over the corresponding period of 1955, an increase of 5 per cent.

Higher wages and salaries were mainly responsible for the upswing. The annual rate of corporate profits before taxes declined some $900 million from the first quarter to $42.9 billion.

Farm income, a major political issue, dropped $100 million off the first quarter pace to an annual rate of $11.3 billion. This was some $900 million below the same quarter a year ago.

proposed. Dr. Alderfer agreed that a thorough study should be made.

In other action, the LCA agreed to reorganize its board of directors. The executive committee will recommend procedures to appoint one resident of each section of Levittown as a director.

Dr. Leonard Friedman, chairman of a committee to establish a non-political school board, reported letters have been sent to 15 civic organizations in Levittown, requesting representative at a meeting to form the groundwork for such action at the Emerson School, Nov. 15.

Christmas Contest

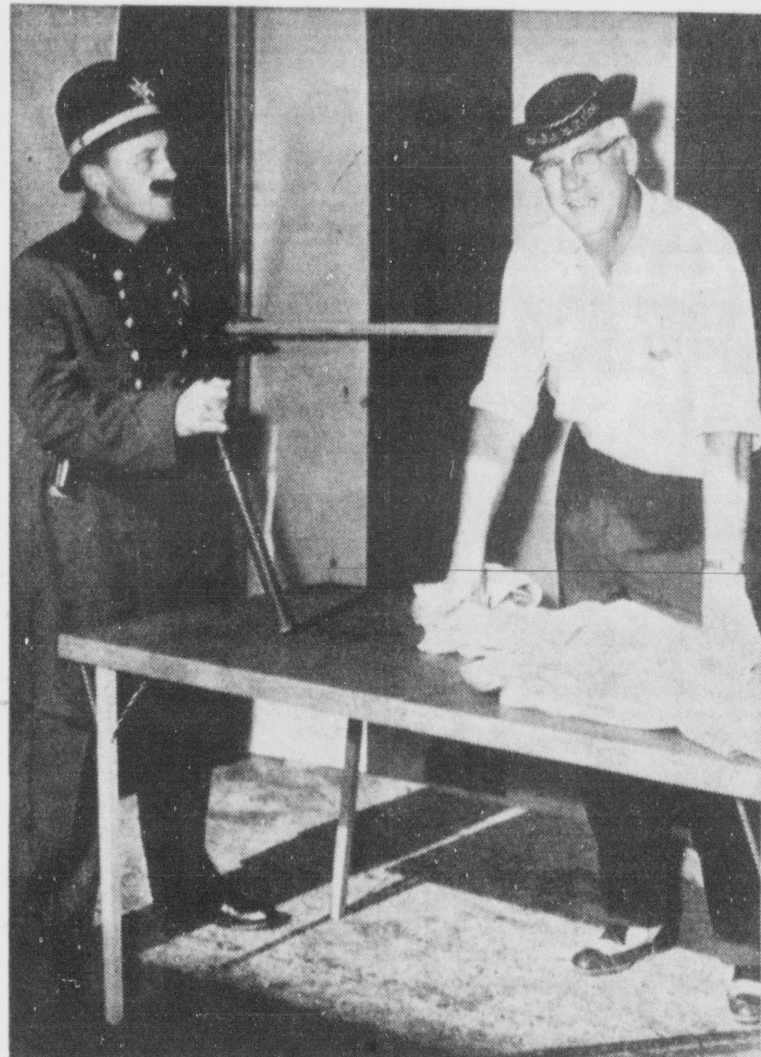

Again this year the LCA will sponsor a Christmas lighting contest for Levittown residents.

Lotto reported the next meeting will be on incorporation. He said Dr. Alderfer had been invited and Alderfer would accept if his schedule is free. Lotto also said representatives of school systems and labor and industry will be invited.

Art Contest Chairman Joseph Pavone said he was highly pleased with the number of entries in the contest and the quality of the work. Many people have urged that this will be the first of many art exhibitions for Bristol, he said.

Bagley Top Winner

First prize in the professional class, $100, was won by William Bagley, of 3207 Dixon avenue, West Bristol, for his oil painting, "Boy With Chickens." Mr. Bagley teaches art at Bristol High School.

Kathleen White, of 65 Pumpkinhill road, Plumbridge, Levittown, a student at the Moore Institute of Art, Philadelphia, won second prize, $50, among the professionals for her landscape in water colors.

Third prize in the professional class was won by Mr. Pavone, who lives at 1927 Wilson avenue, Bristol. His oil painting, "Women in White," won the $25 award.

Mansion Subject

The historic Keene Mansion on Radcliffe street was subject of the first prize painting in the amateur class. The artist, Harry Wright Jr., of Rancocas, N.J., visualized the historic past of the house in a water color picture of Joseph Bonaparte, ex-King of Spain, making a visit. He won a $25 savings bond.

Jane B. Harmen, Chalfont Rd., won second prize in the amateur division, a $25 bond, for an oil painting of a spring house.

"Old Homestead," painted in oil by Grace Selner Wetherill, Landreth road, Bristol, received a $25 bond as third prize.

Student winners were Bill Riley, Wilson avenue, Bristol, who won a $15 art book as first prize for his brush and ink picture, "The Homestead."

Frank L. Craven, 3d, Oak Lane avenue, Fallsington, won second prize for a still life in oil; Stewart Alexander, 4706 Eugene drive, Bath road, third prize for an oil still life.

Commended

The three judges who decided on the awards Saturday joined in commending the artists who entered the contest.

"This is very stimulating," said Raphael Sabatini, a professor at the Tyler School of Temple University, who has exhibited his paintings in Europe and America.

"The variety of techniques and art expression shows a great amount of creativity. The community will greatly benefit from the contest."

"Art gives life to life," was the comment of William F. Taylor, former president of the Phillips Mill Art Gallery and chairman of the Bucks County Park Board after viewing the paintings.

Alexander Abels, Tyler School professor and art consultant for the U. S. Treasury Department, said he hopes this "will be the first of many shows to come. As a first show it is really warming to see the response," Mr. Abels said.

Winners of honorable mention awards were: In the professional class, Mar-

Discussion Scheduled In Fallsington

A meeting devoted to exploring all aspects and problems involved in starting a junior college for lower Bucks County will be held tomorrow night in the Fallsington Elementary school.

"We hope that in this meeting we will learn of the problems of establishing a junior college," stated Medill Bair, regional superintendent of the Pennsbury school district this morning. He continued, "When we recognize the problems confronting us, we can set up a working organization to proceed with the plans."

To Present Study

Clayton Mills, president of the Pennsbury Joint School board, and a member of the county board, and as such, chairman of the junior college advisory board will present a study he has made concerning the establishment of a junior college.

A study of the educational needs of secondary youth will be presented by Richard Currier, assistant regional superintendent of secondary schools in the Pennsbury district. He was directed by the advisory board to compile the data.

Also attending the meeting will be Dr. John G. Berrier, director of Off Campus Division Education for Temple University, representing the university.

Officials Invited

All regional superintendents and many of the principals of secondary education in Lower Bucks have been invited, as well as representatives of the County Office of Education, and members of the County Board of Education.

The college will be fully accredited and will fulfill a need for better secondary educational facilities to alleviate the crowded conditions in freshman and sophomore classes in various colleges. Credits attained in the junior college will be applied to a college degree.

lane, between Ellwood avenue and Route 13.

By its action the board of adjustment waived all these requirements and others dealing with minimum parking space and side yards.

It was pointed out by Township Commissioner John Gallagher that the action of the Zoning Board of Adjustment is final as far as the township is concerned. He said the Board of Commissioners have no say in this matter. Any residents who want to appeal the adjustment board's decisions must go to Bucks County Court, Gallagher said.

Township Commissioner Wayne Locke, Fifth Ward, which includes the motel site, said residents of the area didn't have proper notice that the motel would be considered last night.

He asked the board to postpone its action and give the residents a chance to attend a meeting. The board members pointed out that the hearing had been advertised three times.

Norman Scott, 27 Gentle road, Levittown, who also asked action on the request be postponed, said by its action the board "had denied Commissioner Locke a chance to get the opinion of his constituents on the proposal."

Locke pointed out that of all the people attending the meeting, none lived near the site. He added, "I didn't even know of the proposal. I just happened to be here on another matter tonight."

Commissioner Albert H. Rogers, Fourth Ward, objected to the motel. He said the township zoning ordinance makes no mention or provision for a motel. He recommended the land be set aside for a recreation area.

William J. Veitch, of 29 Gable Hill road, Goldenridge section, Levittown, said he felt a motel "would be contrary to the best interests of the township," and would detract from the beauty of the township and add to the traffic safety problem.

Others objecting were: Lewis Beers, of 17 Huckleberry lane; Mrs. Jean Krauss, 4 Maple lane; Vincent Lombardi, 296 Appletree drive, and his wife, Marion; John Swanson, 6 Holly drive, all of Levittown.

Mrs. Lombardi suggested the area be set aside for a "small factory" which "would employ more people."

Reap, speaking for the motel corporation, said a motel would cause less traffic than a shopping center for which the area was zoned. Also, he said the tract would be useless for anything else but a service station.

AUXILIARY MEETING

The Ladies auxiliary of the Trevose Fire company, will meet tomorrow night at the Fire House at 8 o'clock.
